1. All those persons entitled to vote may attend the shareholders' meeting.
2. The bylaws of companies, the shares of which are not in held in a centralized management system, may require deposit beforehand of the shares at the company's registered office or at the intermediary indicated in the call notice, establishing the term within which such shares are to be deposited and eventually establishing that they cannot be freed before the shareholders' meeting has taken place. If the shares issued by the companies indicated above are circulated extensively amongst the public such term may not exceed two non working days.
3. If the shares are in registered form, the companies as per paragraph two, will register in the shareholders' register the names of such persons who attended the shareholders' meeting.
4. The by-laws of the company may permit attendance at the shareholders' meeting via telecommunication means or voting by mail ballot or electronically. Those persons who exercise their vote by mail ballot or electronically will be considered present at the meeting.
5. The provisions of special laws regarding entitlement to attend and vote in the shareholders' meeting as well as registration in the shareholders' register for companies with shares in a centralized management system will in any case apply.

Article 83-sexies – Consolidated Law on Finance (Right to attend shareholders' meetings and the exercise of voting rights)

1. The legitimate attendance of shareholders' meetings and the exercise of voting rights is confirmed by a statement to the issuer from the intermediary, in compliance with intermediary accounting records, on behalf of the person with the right to vote.
2. For meetings of holders of financial instruments admitted for trading with the issuer's consent on regulated markets or in the Italian multilateral trading systems or those of other European Union countries, the communication contemplated by subsection 1 is made by the intermediary on the basis of the evidence of the accounts contemplated by article 83-quater, subsection 3, relative to the term of the accounting day of the seventh market business day prior to the date established for the meeting. Credit and debit entries made on accounts after these terms are not relevant in terms of assuring the legitimate exercise of voting rights at the shareholders' meeting. For the purposes of this ruling, the date of the first convocation is considered providing the dates of any successive convocations are indicated in the convocation notice; otherwise the date of each convocation shall be considered.

3. For meetings other than those indicated in subsection 2, the articles of association may require the financial instruments referred to in the communication to be entered in the accounts of the party with voting rights as from a pre-established date, potentially establishing that they may not be transferred until the end of the shareholders' meeting. In the case of shareholders' meetings of companies whose shares are widely distributed to a relevant extent, the term may not exceed two working days. Should the Articles of Association not prevent the transfer of shares, any transfer of such shall entail the obligation bearing on the intermediary to rectify the communication sent previously .

4. Communications indicated in subsection 1 must reach the issuer by the third trading day prior to the date indicated in subsection 2, last sentence, or within an alternative term established, in concert with the Bank of Italy, by a Consob regulation, or within a successive term established in the Articles of Association pursuant to subsections 3 and 5. This is without prejudice to legitimate attendance and voting if communication has reached the issuer beyond the terms specified in this subsection, providing it has been received before the start of the works of the meeting works held pursuant to single convocation.

5. Subsections 1, 3 and 4 apply to the meetings of holders of financial instruments issued by cooperative companies. With reference to meetings of holders of financial instruments admitted for trading, with the consent of the issuer, on regulated markets or Italian multilateral trading systems or those of other countries of the European Union, the terms pursuant to subsection 3 cannot exceed two working days.
