INWIT RECEIVES ISO 37001 CERTIFICATION FOR ITS CORRUPTION PREVENTION SYSTEM

The digital infrastructure company in line with international best practices

Rome, 14 March 2025 – INWIT's commitment to preventing and combating unlawful conduct and practices in carrying out of its business is recognised in the new ISO 37001 certification, achieved for the Corruption Prevention System adopted by the company. The digital infrastructure company, Italy's leading tower company, has confirmed that it is on a par with international best practices on the matter.

This result is an expression of the company's strong focus on ensuring compliance with anti-corruption regulations and the adoption of appropriate organisational and compliance measures for the correct management of relations with public, private, internal and external parties.

ISO 37001 adds to the other ISO certifications obtained by INWIT in recent years, covering Quality, Environment, Health and Safety, Energy and Gender Equality Management Systems. Indeed, the company's prime focus is on its customers and its people, providing a reliable and efficient service through standardised and optimised internal processes, in a perspective of continuous improvement towards sustainable success.

The new certification is the result of a verification process of every aspect of corporate life and of all departments and takes into account the tools we have adopted with a view to compliance and the prevention of corruption, as well as the values contained in our Code of Ethics. It is therefore a further recognition of our commitment to adopting a model inspired by the principles of integrity, ethics, transparency, fairness and sustainability.
